Little Good Harbor, Five Islands, Maine.

My dear and very dear A. W., I am still here. I wanted to go back last week, but I was wallowing in insomnia, and they wouldn't let me until I reformed; and I really began to reform, this very last night as ever was. Now comes your letter. There isn't a plan on either my horizon or Mam's. The moment I get back the hustling will begin. According to last advice, the Lutherals come back to 302 on Tuesday, and Mam goes on a visit to the Cohasset end of Nantasket: where I am to find her on the 11th or thereabouts. I don't wish to give a thought to Oxford until she is settled comfortably. My chores there will have to wait. Of course I'll run down to Plymouth! Just wait and see. Miss Anna Branch was, I think, a College mate of my Mary Jordan. I hugely admire the former's harp-fingers. Thank you ever so much for the Belmont inquiries.

Now I am setting ^{strength} up again. I feel hopeful that all will come to happy ends; and the Mam is better than she has been for a whole year.

You never saw ~~such~~ a wilder spot than this. Rock, sea, and sky, and Kingfishers for your only neighbors. I am habited, day ~~and~~ ^{after} day, in my bathing-suit and sandals! Were it not for the ever-festive mosquito, the place is unspoiled Eden.
Salutation to both households.

Yours continuously loving
L. D. G.

Miss Anne Whitney,
Rocky Point, Plymouth,
Mass.
